PELLA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

Why be a member of Pella Historical:

"Jaarsma Bakery is proud to support the Pella Historical Society. We have a unique relationship with the Vermeer Mill as the Windmill grinds wheat for us that we can then bake into windmill bread and buns. We appreciate the fact that the Windmill, Historical Village, Scholte House and Tulip Time bring many visitors to town that then patronize the downtown area. Pella Historical Society is an asset to the Pella community."

David and Kristi Balk

"I love showing people how to use the weaving loom in the log cabin at the village and one of my all time favorite things in Pella is going to the top of the windmill whenever I want. I'm glad I am a member of the Pella Historical Society."

Naomi Tripp, age 11

"It may sound clichéd to say that the more you know of a place, the more you will appreciate it, but it is true. Pella is a unique place with a unique history, which draws people to come visit and sometimes to stay."

"We're grateful for the strong organization of the Pella Historical Society, and happy to take part in belonging and helping."

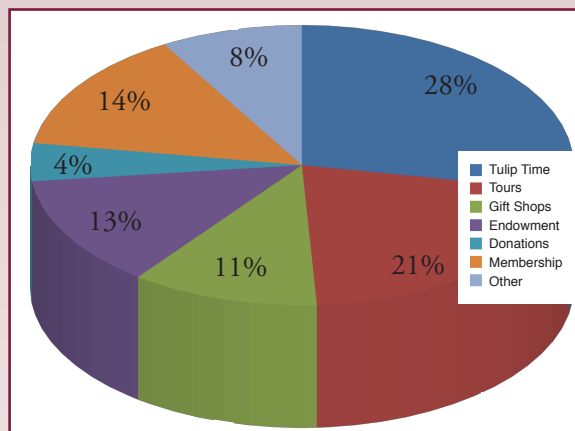

Don and Lana Ringgenberg

The Pella Historical Society's Mission Statement:

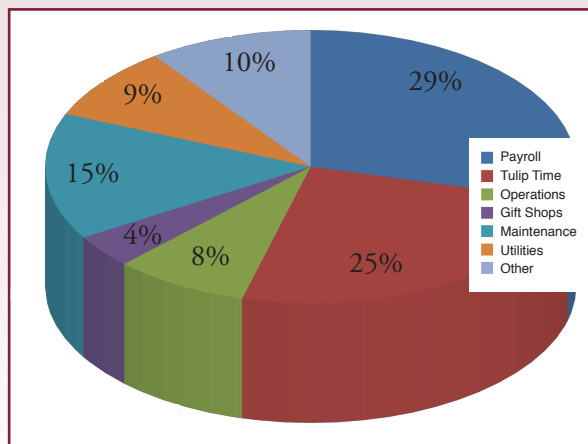

Pella Historical Society preserves and promotes Pella's Dutch heritage through educational programs, historical sites, Tulip Time, and other festivals and events.

Pella Historical depends heavily on the unselfish giving of time, energy, and other resources from devoted volunteers. Each year thousands of volunteer hours are given to the organization. The annual budget approaches $500,000. The graphs below indicate sources of income and expenditures.
